

THE GRATEFUL NYCPBA

We are grateful to all of the police organizations from across the country who have stood with us in boycotting cop-hating filmmaker Quentin Tarantino's latest release, "The Hateful Eight." The film's weak box office returns are proof of what the nationwide law enforcement community can achieve when we all stand together and speak with one voice. In these challenging times, it is more important than ever for us to work together in defending all that is good and honorable in our profession. Thank you for your support.
